

Survey of Wild Flowers In The Churchyard - Sunday 6th June

A brief (10 to 15 minute) survey of wildflowers was made in the Churchyard in the immediate vicinity of the Church after the 10.00 am service on the 6th June.

We have attached photos of the 14 different species that were found and have tried to identify each one as far as possible. However, as colours tend to vary in reference books and not all the leaves were showing in the pictures, we are not entirely confident that all the names are correct, so please let us know if you have a better idea.

We could perhaps undertake a more careful survey later this month or in early July to see which of these plants are still in flower and whether any new ones have appeared. Keith and Jane

Speedwell

Bugle ?

White Dead-nettle

Wood Avens

Buttercup

Herb Robert or Little Robin

Green Alkanet

Daisy

Forget-me-not

Common Vetch

Dandelion

Goat's Beard

Milk Maid

White Campion

References

- The Wild Flowers of the British Isles by Garrard and Streeter (1983).
- The Internet